The classification depends on the proportion of hydrogen atoms to carbon-carbon bonds in the molecule: 1. III. Nucleic acids are complex organic molms that store genetic information in the cell. Most unsaturated fats are liquid at room temperature, and are generally known as oils. Example: Azúcar glucose is a small carbohydrate; It is equal to 6. Polysacan trees are carbohydrates formed to link individual azúcars in long chains. The unsaturated fatty acids have double bond (s) in the carbon chain and are not filled. i. The bond of the monomers to form polymers through a chemical reaction called condensation reaction or dehydration synthesis. IV The catalysts accelerate the reactions by reducing the activation energy. The monosacrides are simple sugarcases (saccharide = sugar). Triglycrisins (known as neutral fats) are linked to three fatty acids ("" ") by condensation reaction. Carbon composed, hydrogen and oxygen atoms in the ratio of 1 : 2: 1 1. Cellulose: a polysacanered contained in the cell walls of the plants; gives strength and â €
